Milton H. Greene, L.L.C.

Burlington Prose™

Marilyn Monroe stands as one of the 20th century's most enduring images, an icon reborn, it seems, with each new generation. The man who best understood and captured - some say invented - this phenomenon was her friend and partner, the late Milton H. Greene.

It was Greene's unique personal friendship and business relationship with Marilyn Monroe that allowed the extraordinary photographs, recording her moods, beauty, talent and spirit, for which he is most widely remembered. The Monroe collection contains more than 2,000 never before seen photographs of the screen legend.

Greene's remarkable portraits of our most beloved artists, musicians, and personalities are legendary. Some of his subjects are Marlene Dietrich, Frank Sinatra, Judy Garland, Sammy Davis Jr., Ava Gardner, Cary Grant, Bette Davis, Tony Curtis, Paul Newman, Steve McQueen, Audrey Hepburn, Gene Kelly and Sophia Loren.

In a return to an era of lost elegance, The Archives, headed by Milton's eldest son Joshua, is preserving the vision and timeless works of the celebrated photographer. The Archives is dedicated to the restoration, license and sale of an unprecedented wealth of fine photography for use in traditional and interactive marketing, mass media, merchandising, exhibition and private collections.

The Archives, working in conjunction with Salton®, specifically restored and made available the Monroe images used in the packaging of these products.
